Michael Sondheimer has provided service to the NCAA volleyball community for over 40 years as well as working 4 Olympic Games. He has participated at NCAA Championships since 1974 covering the event court-side or providing TV statistics & research, plus working on the beach.

Michael has done almost every NCAA Women's Volleyball Division I Championship from 1981 to 2012, primarily for Television. He was the first statistician that was traveled by television for college volleyball as part of the official TV crew. He traveled for women's pro beach volleyball TV in the 1990s before the merger with the AVP and then traveled for many years in the 2000s for NBC for its summer AVP beach package. Sondheimer brought his college volleyball television and research work to the beach volleyball game and then to the Olympic Games for NBC Sports. He worked both indoor and beach for NBC at the 1996 Atlanta Olympic Games. In 2000 he worked indoors at the Sydney Olympic Games as well as writing feature stories for the NBC Quokka website. In 2012 he did indoor volleyball for NBC at the London Olympics. Prior to those Olympic Games he ran the basketball statistics at the 1984 Los Angeles Olympic Games. His international volleyball work began as the assistant publicity director for the 1975 NORCECA Games at the Los Angeles Sports Arena. He helped develop the original NCAA Volleyball Statistical Box Score that has been used throughout the USA at various events in all levels of the sport. The United States Volleyball Association (USVBA) honored Sondheimer with the first Vigo Nelson award for producing the nationâ™s top college volleyball media guide. He then received the USVBA Douglas Boyden media award for his college volleyball publicity work. The AVCA honored Sondheimer with the Grant Burger media award for his continued work and support of college volleyball. For almost 40 years, Sondheimer wrote occasional articles and provided college information for Volleyball Magazine, Volleyball Monthly and Volleyball. He also was a several year member of the Volleyball Magazine Executive Board. He worked 40 years in collegiate athletics before retiring and was honored numerous times for his sport accomplishments. He was inducted in 1993 into the Southern California Jewish Sports Hall of Fame for Sports Media. His first book, â™Recruiting 101â™, a blueprint for coaches, parents and students on the college athletic recruiting process, is currently available at Books.

What a fun book to read. Mr. Sondheimer interviewed well over 100 coaches, players and VB personalities to help you gain key insights to call of the NCAA Volleyball semi and finals championship matches. Reading what the key plays or situations were in the matches was very enlightening. Reliving the more recent matches I do recall and learning more about the older matches I didn't was fun on both ends. In addition to stories about the matches, the book also includes detailed sections on many of the great men's and women's coaches and players of NCAA volleyball plus other things such as key rule changes, etc. It was a truly enjoyable book to read and I highly recommend it.

As a VB coach, this is a must have book. It's detailed and an enjoyable read.

Finally something that takes you through the history of college volleyball. Loved it!

Biased to the west coast teams
