Stalker

Synopsis

The groundbreaking fifth thriller in Lars Kepler's best-selling series featuring Joona Linna. Perfect for fans of Stieg Larsson and Jo Nesbo. CLOSE THE CURTAINS A film arrives at Stockholm's National Crime Investigation Department showing a woman in her own home, plainly unaware she is being watched. The police don't take it seriously until she is found murdered. LOCK THE DOOR When the next video arrives, Detective Margot Silverman frantically attempts to identify the victim. But it's already too late. Because at the time the video was sent, the killer was already inside their house. BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE Soon Stockholm is in the grip of terror. Who will the Stalker target next?

This is a very good series, written by a husband and wife team, with a very interesting Finnish detective, Joona Linna, an odd but likable duck who has marvelous instincts and intense combat training. In this fifth book we don't see Linna for a while but once we do it's obvious he's in very bad shape, torn apart by family troubles. He's gone into hiding but events lead one detective to find him and I found this very sketchy. These are supposed to be intelligent people but they do the dumbest things. That's been true of this book and the last one, and I really hope the pair of authors isn't losing it. It's a fun series but it may be going downhill. At more than 500 pages it's more than a bit bloated yet we get very little information on the many characters who are not Joonas Linna. I had hoped this would change as the books went on but we still know next to nothing about any other characters. The story itself is very good. A serial killer is watching and videotaping women from outside their homes, uploading the film to the internet and then stabbing them to death. The m.o. matches a killer who's sitting in jail. Did they arrest the wrong man? Joonas is on the case .. and of course sees things in unique ways that help lead to the killer. This used to be one of my top five Scandinavian series. It is slipping but probably still in the top ten. It's best to read the series in order, to appreciate Linna's personal journey. Books in the series are: The Hypnotist, The Nightmare, The Fire Witness, The Sandman, The Stalker.

Another awesome novel from Lars Kepler. Last we saw him, Joonas Linna was walking into the ocean and declared dead. So Margot, a very pregnant police officer, leads the investigation into the murders of several women whose creepy stalky videos were posted on Youtube shortly before their deaths. There are new faces (seriously, you'd never expect an 8-month pregnant lady to be such a badass) and many old ones (the original hypnotist, Erik Maria Bark is back). I knew whodunit pretty quickly, but the last chapters are not for people with heart conditions. Is the next book out yet? How about now?

I loved this one almost as much as The Hypnotist. Both really great reads by the husband and wife author duo, Lars Kepler.

Must be the Keplers's finest book to date. Excellent storyline. Unbelievable tension. Impossible to anticipate next situation. Really marvellous. The translation is very very good and contributes a lot to a really fine piece of work.

Another great novel in the Joonas Linna series by Lars Kepler

This was by far the best in the Joonas Linna series - in spite of its length I could not put this book down - it had many twists and turns and suspenseful surprises. I had to update myself on the series as it had been awhile since the last book - but this is worth the wait and the read.

Yet another brilliant novel...I'm breathless. I tried to stop myself, but couldn't....read it within 24 hours. Now, I'm going to re-read The Sandman followed by Stalker. I'll take my time this round! Thank you for leaving me guessing and on the edge of my seat! Bravo!

I could hardly put this book down. When I wasn't reading it I was thinking about it. When I realized I was almost at the end I didn't want the story to end. Gripping and terrifying. I hope the author is busily writing now because I can't wait for the next book.
