Customer Reviews

Terri Grace has another fantastic book. It was light reading; but, at the same time, it made me think of how worried and fearful young men and women might have been over a century ago. Women, and men, were taught to honor their parents. Women, especially, were Â“expectedÂ” to help their parents financially, including marriage if need be. That is what occurs in this particular story. A young woman, Bethany, agrees to a marriage to pay her fatherÂ’s debts and prevent his being arrested for a crime he never committed. She traveled a week by train to marry a man 20 years older than her father. After meeting Pat, she wanted to honor the agreement but Pat made her feel alive. I could feel Bethany being torn between Â“dutyÂ” and feelings for a completely different man. What choice did she make and was it the right one? Who was Pat? The reader knows but does Bethany? Money doesnÂ’t always mean love and marriage doesnÂ’t always mean safety. What choice does Bethany have? What about Pat? Does he help Bethany or hinder her decision? Those were just a few of the questions I had that prevented me from putting this book down. I definitely recommend this as a must read for all ages.

A sweet and charming story that you will enjoy reading. You can feel for this young woman who goes to marry to help her father. Facing an unsettling future with a man older than her father she tries to come to grips with this and the feeling of love that was growing for the man name Pat. It is a quick read a great afternoon read.

Terri Grace has written another winning book. I have enjoyed all the books I have read written by her!!!! I hope you will follow my lead and enjoy the book also

This is a beautiful story and I'm glad I read it. It turns out so wonderfully.

Excellent

Please don't keep asking me to review books, I can't remember them long enough. I just know I enjoy them when I am reading them

As with all the Terri Grace books, there is always a lesson and a witness to GodÂ’s perfect grace. The book is part of a series but reads as a standalone. The story shares GodÂ’s love without being preachy. A crooked business partner has disappeared, and the honest one is left behind with threats of jail and to be ruined. A plan is made that all debts would be paid and forgiven, but it comes with a personal price, the daughter to marry the benefactor. Bethany Clifford has dreams of someday traveling and seeing the world. For now, it is through her students and their reports. She knows there is a problem with her father’s business and when she learns that it can all be cleared up by her agreeing to be a bride to the benefactor, she agrees, even if there is no love and he is sixty-five years old. Lester Royce, Sr. wants his grandson, Lester, to settle down, marry, and give him grandchildren. All the younger man wants is to travel the world and enjoy the beauty God has created. Finding out his grandfather has schemed and is bringing a bride for him is upsetting. Can he be in disguise, meet her, and see what the future could hold? Can two people with the same wishes of the heart find a future together? A little deception will help provide the answers and pave a path for the future.

“There is a ray of hope here thought.” “With you, life will always be an adventure, one that I will always enjoy.” Disclosure: I voluntarily read and reviewed this book. All thoughts, opinions, and ratings are my own.

A young teacher was asked to marry a man of sixty five to save her Father from jail because of bad investments that had ruined him. Unknown to her she was to marry the man’s Grandson with the same name. She would do anything for her parents and agreed. The Grandson sneaked around to get to know her and she felt comfortable with him as he was a gentleman. A must read for those who enjoy historical western romance kindle books from at a special price and from a duo of authors who keep me wondering what next for the characters as they were getting to know each other.
