A Million Mosquito Bites: Notes From Honduras

Synopsis

If you have ever considered packing it all up and moving someplace tropical this book offers a glimpse of one woman's move from Canada to a remote town in Honduras. Hilda shares her personal journal of maddening, often humourous daily life. This book shares her challenges, cooking, gardening and learning to live in a new country along with the self discovery that comes from her journey.

Customer Reviews

This is one of the most enjoyable books that I've read in a long time! The author takes you on an amazing journey of her time spent in Honduras, filled with the challenges of acclimating to new surroundings, new people and adapting to a completely different way of life. And along the way provides some very insightful thoughts based on her experiences. There was always something exciting going on and I found myself wanting to see what happens next. As a reader, it was really fun to be along for the adventure! Highly Recommend!

Honest and open, Hilda describes her experience. I share a lot of the same likes as Hilda so I could really relate to the stories. I am interested in living in a Latin American country and it certainly made me think about things differently. As simple as the mosquitos!

Hilda's adventure is one of a kind! She makes the most out of every situation and proves time and again that attitude is everything. An unforgettable read by someone who had the courage to do the unthinkable ... "pack up and go!" I highly recommend.
